PROGRAM

How do issues of ordre public and arbitrability arise in disputes where a party's ability to perform its obligations is affected by EU sanctions? Does the seat of the arbitration play a role, and if so, what role? What significance does the existence of EU sanctions have on courts' assessments of arbitral awards and on the enforcement of arbitral awards? These and other questions will be discussed by four speakers in a panel discussion organised in cooperation with YAS and SCC.

The panel discussion will be held in English and will be followed by a reception and a light dinner.
