

Roberto Hernández-García

Roberto Hernández-García is an international construction lawyer based in Mexico City. He has approximately 30 years of experience as counselor, dispute board, and arbitrator, in all kind of infrastructure projects (including mega projects) in Latin America. He is included in the international panel of arbitrators of the ICDR. He was the first, and currently is the only, Latin American professional included in the prestigious FIDIC's president list of international certified dispute boards. He has acted as dispute board in more than 30 contracts in 5 countries of Latin America under FIDIC, NEC and bespoke contracts. He acts as arbitrator under the ICDR, ICC, LCIA and ICSID rules. He is the author of 3 books as sole author including "Dispute Boards: theory and Practice" published by Wolters Kluwers, as well as consulting editor and co-author of 5 books on international construction, public procurement and anticorruption. He is an advisor and trainer of the Interamerican Development Bank and the Central American Bank for Economic Integration. He is a fellow of the American College of Construction Lawyers and a Fellow of the International Academy of Construction Lawyers. He is a regular speaker on dispute board, arbitration and anticorruption lectures in national and international organizations. He is the partner director of COMAD in Mexico City.