PROGRAM

It is common for international arbitration practitioners to have some publications under their belt, but for young lawyers the task of researching, drafting and publishing your first piece on arbitration can seem daunting, especially if you are new to the field or are working full time in a firm. During this webinar, we will address, among other issues, what young practitioners should consider when deciding to write about international arbitration (be it for a law journal article or a blog post), how to balance writing with a full-time workload, and how they can leverage publications to improve their profile.
