PROGRAM

In the ICDR Y&I's 2023 International Construction Arbitration series, construction experts from around the world will discuss the core concepts young arbitration practitioners should understand when tasked with overseeing complex construction disputes.

Webinar 2: Over the course of the last decade, BIM has played an increasingly important role managing construction projects and disputes. BIM integrates different disciplines within the construction process, enabling more efficient coordination, tracking, and survey during the project. In the second webinar of the 2023 ICDR Y&I Construction Arbitration Series, panelists Jonathan Haag, Michael Valo, Sarah Keyte, and Jeremy Glover will discuss what BIM is and how it can be used in connection with complex construction arbitrations.
