PROGRAM

In the ICDR Y&I's 2023 International Construction Arbitration series, construction experts from around the world will discuss the core concepts young arbitration practitioners should understand when tasked with overseeing complex construction disputes.

Webinar 3: This webinar will focus on introducing audience members to the more granular issues associated with schedule and delay analysis. Panelist will discuss, among other things, the practice of project scheduling, the methods delay experts implement to measure project delays, and how those methods factor into delay claims in connection with construction arbitrations.
